Dear students

We are in the twilight of 2022. In the dirge of the dying year lies the birth of an infant new year. The New Year comes to us wrapped in wonders, layer after layer - 365 of them. Every layer has something in store for us and in that element of surprise and uncertainty lies the real beauty and essence of life. Dear children, each New Year comes with infinite possibilities and it depends on your resolve to turn those possibilities into realities. For that, the first thing you must do is to keep the resolve renewed and worked upon everyday. Set small goals for each day. There are innumerable things you can do which you never thought you could or kept procrastinating. It can be anything from getting up a little earlier than usual and going for that morning jog, learning a new dance form or reading that best seller book that's been lying in your book rack for a while. Get out of your comfort zone, rid yourself of those million excuses, pull up your socks and tick all those things on your to-do list. Running away from your fears only increases distance from the solution. Being in your comfort zone is a sign of insecurity. Make an effort to stay away from those who dispirit you, transmit negative vibes and drain your energy.

Welcome all the opportunities that the New Year offers, think positive, act confidently and achieve proudly. You have nothing to lose except your inhibitions and with that I wish you all an accomplishing New Year.

Wishing you all the very best,

Poonam Navet
